

APPROVAL BODIES & ASSOCIATION UPDATE

Argus Security products are fully designed to the requirements of EN54 and independently third party approved by leading test houses, including:

The Loss Prevention Certification Board (LPCB) United Kingdom assesses and certifies fire and security systems and services against standards, such as BS, EN and LPS, developed in cooperation with manufacturers and insurers. Approved systems and services are listed in the world famous Red Book

VdS Germany is an independent institution which has been ensuring safety and trust in the fields of fire protection and security for many decades and develops advanced safety concepts for significant industrial and commercial enterprises, leading manufacturers and system businesses as well as specialist firms and independent specialists

BSI is a leading global provider of management systems assessment and certification solutions, with more than 64,000 certified locations and clients worldwide. BSI offers a full range of certification services including the Kitemark, CE Marking and independent Direct Product Testing services

The BOSEC (Belgium Organisation for Security Certification) is supported by the insurance and the industry with the aim of guaranteeing the performance of the equipment. The BOSEC certification of installers and designers also attests to their abilities to carry out the missions they have been entrusted with.

SAI Global Product Certification offers a number of certification schemes tailored for fire safety products. These certification services include: StandardsMark is offered by SAI Global for a large number of fire safety products.

IMQ is Italy's most important certification body and European leader in conformity assessments and laboratory tests for the electrical, electronic gas and agro food industries.

Argus Security is also proud to be a member of the Assosicurezza Italy and the FIA United Kingdom

Raising standards in the sector - ASSOSICUREZZA has made enormous efforts in training and updating Members and other categories of professionals. In this context, the Association has initiated and participated in important initiatives which are destined to have a big impact in the security sector

The Fire Industry Association, or the FIA is a not-for-profit trade association with the aim of promoting the professional status of the UK fire safety industry.

